Attorneys for AMERICAN REGISTRY FOR INTERNET NUMBERS, LTD.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN JOSE DIVISION

GARY KREMEN, an individual,

Plaintiff,

vs.

STEPHEN MICHAEL COHEN, et. al.,

Defendant.

No. USDC Case No. C 98 20718 JW

DECLARATION OF RAYMOND A. PLZAK IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO CLARIFY / MODIFY

Action Filed: April 12, 2006

Trial Date: NONE SET

Hearing Date: July 14, 2006

Time: 9:00 a.m.

Location: Courtroom 8, 4th Floor

Judge: The Honorable James Ware

DECLARATION OF RAYMOND A. PLZAK

1 1. I am the President and Chief Executive Officer of the American 2 Registry for Internet Numbers (ARIN). I am responsible for the operation of 3 ARIN. I have reviewed the 2001 Court's Order provided to Mr. Kremen, and have 4 performed research on the IP resources impacted by the Court's Order. This 5 research is summarized in a chart attached to this Declaration as Exhibit A. At the 6 end of this Declaration, I will use this Exhibit to suggest changes to the Court's 7 Order.

8 Kremen Initially Did Not Formally Seek 9 Compliance Or Enforcement Of The Order

10 2. Throughout the period from 2001, when the Court issues its 11 Order, to the filing of Mr. Kremen's lawsuit, ARIN has negotiated in good faith 12 with Mr. Kremen. ARIN has reviewed documents Mr. Kremen filed in Court 13 where he voluntarily agreed not to require compliance with the Court's Order. For 14 example, Mr. Kremen wrote to this Court on October 29, 2001 in the Stipulation 15 regarding the Standstill Agreement and Submission of Issues for Ancillary 16 Determination, by stating:

17 Kremen represents and warrants that to date, the only 18 enforcement action taken by him is to deliver a copy of 19 the Order to ARIN's counsel. Kremen stipulates that 20 pending further discovery in this matter he will not take 21 any further action to enforce the September 17, 2001 22 Order and if Kremen intends to take any action on the 23 Order, he will give PACNET Companies at least five (5) 24 days written notice to enable PACNET Companies to take 25 such action as they deem appropriate.

26 A copy of this filing was provided to ARIN's lawyers by Mr. Kremen.

27 Mr. Kremen Has Refused To Cooperate With ARIN's Offer
28 To Transfer Those Portions Of The Netblock It Can Effect
 Pursuant To The Court's Order

1 3. In December, 2003, Mr. Kremen restarted communications with 2 ARIN regarding the Netblock and Order. At that point in time, while ARIN had 3 seen a copy of the 2001 Order, it had never been served on ARIN on the subject of 1 enforcement action. It was effectively served in the first week of 2004.

2 4. ARIN immediately engaged in good faith negotiations with Mr.
3 Kremen regarding the Order.

4 5. On several occasions ARIN thought it had reached an amicable 5 agreement with Mr. Kremen. On each occasion, it was always ARIN's position 6 that it would obey the Order and transfer to Mr. Kremen the IP resources in the 7 Netblock it could control, recognizing there were some resources we could not 8 control if Mr. Kremen would file an ARIN application for this resource. Mr.
9 Kremen acknowledged this in writing. See Exhibit C, Kremen counsel's email to 10 ARIN dated 1/30/04. ARIN even offered to help Mr. Kremen fill out the ARIN 11 paperwork to facilitate his takeover of the resources and "walk" his application 12 through the process. ARIN also agreed Mr. Kremen would not be responsible for 13 past service charges incurred by the Netblock holders. ARIN agreed to waive any 14 application fee routinely charged to persons seeking resources.

15 6. However, to date Mr. Kremen has refused to submit an 16 application to ARIN for transfer of the IP resources described in the Order. In fact, 17 ARIN does not believe Mr. Kremen has ever filed an application for IP resources 18 from ARIN.

19 7. ARIN does not issue IP resources unless the applicant applies 20 for the resources and qualifies to be granted, IP resources. Mr. Kremen has recently 21 indicated to ARIN that due to the Court's Order, unlike everyone else in the ARIN 22 service region, he does not need to apply for resources or have a service agreement 23 with ARIN. ARIN does not agree with Mr. Kremen's position.

24 8. ARIN has never understood that the Court's Order requires 25 ARIN to provide Mr. Kremen with free services, services without a written 26 agreement governing the services, or without appropriate paperwork. ARIN has 27 never assumed the Court Order was intended to relieve Mr. Kremen from the duty 28 to obtain these resources from ARIN by cooperating with, and following the same

1 procedures that all ISPs, companies and U.S. government agencies are required to 2 follow.

3 ARIN Refused to Cooperate with Mr. Kremen's Opponents

5 9. During the time ARIN was negotiating in good faith with Mr.
6 Kremen, ARIN refused to take actions sought by the holders of the Netblock to 7 make changes that would have benefited them. For example, in February and 8 March, 2004, ARIN was importuned and threatened by those who held a portion of 9 net block to transfer control of the assets. This correspondence from Pacnet by a 10 Mr. Jack Brownfield and Mr. Juan Jose (Steve) Martinez sought ARIN's transfers 11 of portions of the Netblock. ARIN refused to cooperate with these individuals and 12 ARIN indicated its intent to take this matter to the Court. See Exhibits D and E, 13 ARIN letters to Pacnet dated March 11, 2004 and March 19, 2004. In the last letter 14 from Pacnet, Mr. Martinez apologized to ARIN and asked to withdraw the attempt 15 to transfer the resources and indicated they would seek to place the issue before the 16 Court. This reversal by Pacnet meant ARIN did not need to go to Court at that 17 time.

18 10. The entire correspondence between ARIN and Pacnet 19 demonstrates that these Pacnet individuals associated with the Netblock act 20 similarly to Mr. Kremen – they demand immediate treatment from ARIN without 21 regard to ARIN's need to carefully perform its duties in accordance with its own 22 procedures. ARIN has not knowingly permitted any changes in the status quo that 23 would violate this Court's Order.

24 11. ARIN further provided all of the correspondence between it and 25 Pacnet to Mr. Kremen to assist him in his efforts. To assist the Court, I have 26 created a table which appears as Exhibit B to this Declaration which lists the 27 correspondence between Pacnet and ARIN and provides copies of all of that 28 correspondence in chronological order to the extent it was not separately attached in

1 the paragraphs above.

2 ARIN Has Revoked Netblock-Related Resources From 3 Those Who Were Adverse To Mr. Kremen

4 12. During the time ARIN was negotiating in good faith with Mr.
5 Kremen, ARIN has also revoked from Mr. Cohen, or his associates, portions of the 6 IP resources described in the Order. For example, ARIN, knowing of the Court 7 Order, but also consistently following its own internal procedures, revoked the 8 resources when it could do so. See Exhibit F, demonstrating revocation of 9 64.19.192.0, a slash 19, and 64.239.255, a slash 20, both previously issued to 10 Sandman. Thus, ARIN effectuated the Court's Order by denying these resources to 11 Cohen, or persons associated with Cohen, when it could be accomplished consistent 12 with ARIN's policies.

13 The Court's Order Includes Within It IP Resources
14 Not Issued Or Controlled By ARIN

15 13. The resources described in the Court's Order contains one set of 16 IP resources not provided by ARIN. Upon information and belief, the Court was 17 not made aware of this by Mr. Kremen, and/or Mr. Kremen was also unaware of 18 this. Before ARIN began operations, the resources 208.214.46.0 and 19 208.214.47.255 were issued to UUNET. See Exhibit A. They were not issued by 20 ARIN. Like other "legacy" address holder's issued resources before ARIN began, 21 ARIN has never had an agreement with UUNET that would give it authority over 22 those specific resources. UUNET appears to have made a subissuance from its 23 legacy resources to Pacnet, Sandman or some entity holding those resources. ARIN 24 has told Mr. Kremen it cannot provide the relief sought for these resources. Had 25 ARIN been a party to this matter when Mr. Kremen brought it before the Court, 26 ARIN could have advised the Court of these facts. I respectfully suggest the Court 27 modify its Order regarding these particular resources as ARIN cannot comply with 28 the Court's Order in this regard.

Innocent Third Parties Would Likely Be Harmed By Mr. Kremen's Proposed Implementation Of The Court's Order

14. ARIN believes, and has repeatedly told Mr. Kremen, that it is likely that innocent third parties not voluntarily associated with Mr. Cohen have and continue to purchase Internet services that are utilizing the IP resources the 2001 Order would require be transferred to Mr. Kremen. Upon information and belief, if the IP resources covered by the Court were transferred tomorrow to Mr. Kremen, he cannot immediately provide the ISP services to this and customers. Therefore, it is likely service businesses will be cut off from their customers and suppliers to the extent they rely upon the Internet to communicate. Students will not be able to complete their homework on the Internet. In effect, each of these innocent third party customers relying upon the IP resources covered by the Court's Order would be impacted immediately and adversely. They would be forced to spend time trying to find out why their ISP was no longer available, and have to immediately contract with a new ISP to obtain services. They would have an unnecessary service interruption. ARIN has a legitimate concern about the impact on these third parties, both as a steward of Internet resources, and because these third parties could potentially sue ARIN for damages if ARIN were to comply cravenly with Mr. Kremen's wishes.

15. Upon information and belief, had Mr. Kremen forthrightly informed the Court of the potential impact of its Order on innocent third parties, the Court would undoubtedly have sought to prevent damage to such persons.

Mr. Kremen Has Sought To Use The Court's Order To Obtain Legacy Address Space

16. Mr. Kremen also proposed to ARIN he be "compensated" by being given a different set of IP resources than those in the Court's Order. Mr. Kremen in effect wants ARIN to suspend its rules and give him "legacy" rights similar to those who obtained IP resources before ARIN. ARIN has rejected this as

1 a basis of settlement.

2 ARIN Cooperated With Discovery By Mr. Kremen

4 17. In 2005 Mr. Kremen filed a subpoena duces tecum to obtain 5 broad documentary discovery. ARIN cooperated with this discovery and provided 6 approximately 6,000 pages of material to Mr. Kremen. Later when Mr. Kremen 7 needed specific documents to help in his Court filings, ARIN searched for 8 additional specific documents.

9 18. Mr. Kremen also sought testimony from ARIN, issuing a 10 subpoena ad testificandum, but lost interest in the matter and never took the 11 deposition.

12 Mr. Kremen Agreed In Writing To Provide ARIN An 13 Opportunity To Oppose Unilateral Enforcement Of This Order And Violated This Agreement

14 19. ARIN made it clear it would oppose any attempt by Mr. Kremen 15 to seek enforcement of the Order absent an agreement premised on Mr. Kremen 16 completing the necessary paperwork.

17 20. On numerous occasions, ARIN's counsel and counsel for Mr.
18 Kremen, discussed how to proceed if an amicable agreement could not be made.
19 There are at least 75 communications between ARIN and Mr. Kremen's attorneys 20 on email and another series in writing. Mr. Kremen was copied on a number of 21 them. For example, in February, 2004, during Pacnet's attempt to obtain transfer 22 portions of the IP resources described in the Court's Order, counsel for ARIN 23 suggested a joint approach to the Court with Mr. Kremen to resolve these issues.
24 See Exhibit G, email from ARIN counsel to Kremen counsel dated February 24, 25 2004.

26 21. In order for both sides to negotiate in good faith, ARIN sought a 27 specific agreement that neither ARIN or Mr. Kremen would seek improper 28 advantage of the protracted negotiations. ARIN and Mr. Kremen agreed that 1 neither party would proceed to Court without providing 30 days prior notice to the 2 other. Mr. Kremen's counsel reflected this agreement in several different writings.

3 See Exhibit H, Kremen attorney email of June 9, 2005. ARIN actually requested a 4 more specific briefing schedule. See Exhibit I, ARIN counsel email to Kremen 5 counsel, June 9, 2005, in response to the offered 30 day agreement email. In 6 rejecting a more structured briefing schedule sought by ARIN, Mr. Kremen's 7 attorney stated on the same day: "We [Kremen] are not applying for injunctive 8 relief. We are trying to settle with you [ARIN]...you have my assurances and my 9 word that if we don't reach a settlement, we will work with you on a reasonable 10 schedule that gives both sides a fair and reasonable opportunity to brief all issues 11 without advantage or surprise." This email was sent with a protected Rule 408 12 legend, but is produced here as Exhibit J.

13 22. On June 15, 2005, Mr. Kremen again stated: "We look forward 14 to the [ARIN document] production and to trying to resolve this matter with you. It 15 is agreed we will not take any action in court without 30 days notice to you." See 16 Exhibit K, June 15, 2005, from Kremen counsel to ARIN counsel. Again, this 17 email was marked with a Rule 408 legend.

18 23. When ARIN was preparing to go to Court regarding Pacnet's 19 request, Mr. Kremen's attorney wrote to ARIN to further reiterate the 30 day 20 agreement. That letter is appended as Exhibit L, dated April 5, 2005, and states in 21 pertinent part:

22 "Your letter also references papers that you are preparing 23 for the Court [regarding Pacnet]; I do not know what 24 papers you refer to but I would like to adhere to our 25 agreement that neither of us will take any litigation action 26 prior to thirty (30) days notice to the other. In the event 27 that your client has made the decision to cease all further 28 settlement discussions, please let me know that so that we can arrange a mutually convenient day to appear before Judge Ware on whatever motion or other proceeding you intend to file and on our further enforcement proceedings.
Monday is his usual law and motion day. If we are taking the litigation route, we will want to conduct discovery including a subpoena duces tecum for various documents

1 and records and a Rule 30(b)(6) deposition on various 2 issues before any hearing.” (Emphasis added.)

3 24. Despite Mr. Kremen’s agreement to permit ARIN an 4 opportunity to brief the Court on its disagreement with Mr. Kremen over how to 5 implement the Court’s Order, Mr. Kremen filed this suit without abiding by the 6 requisite agreement.

7 Mr. Kremen Sought A Tolling Agreement
8 Which ARIN Refused To Provide

9 25. In 2005 and 2006, Mr. Kremen consistently sought a tolling 10 agreement from ARIN. “We want a tolling agreement making clear that while we 11 are discussing resolution of this matter no statutes of limitation that may apply are 12 running.” See Exhibit M, an email dated August 17, 2005. ARIN refused in 13 writing to provide such a tolling agreement, and rejected this request in 14 conversations with Mr. Kremen.

15 ARIN Was Authorized To Provide IP Resources
16 To the United States As A Result Of A 17 U.S. Government Program And Decision

18 26. The Internet is an outgrowth of the United States Government’s 19 financial investment in packet switching technology and communications networks 20 carried out under agreements with the Defense Advanced Research Projects 21 Agency (“DARPA”) and the National Science Foundation (“NSF”).

22 27. In 1992, the National Science Foundation determined that it 23 would take responsibility for certain Internet functions, including the registration of 24 Internet protocol numbers and domain names, NSF based its authority on the 25 National Science Foundation Act, 42 U.S.C. section 1861 et seq., specifically, 26 Sections 1862 (a)(4) and 1862 (g). NSF solicited bids for private companies to 27 perform various functions for the Internet community, including registration 28 services. NSF received three proposals for operating the Internet registration

1 services, and awarded the contract to NSI, in the form of a five-year cooperative 2 agreement under the Federal Grants and Cooperative Act, 31 U.S.C. 6301 et seq.
3 The solicitation specifically referenced the delegation of authority for registration 4 services from the Internet Assigned Numbers Authority ("IANA") (Section III.1 of 5 Cooperative Agreement). The solicitation also specifically provided for the 6 possibility that the providers of the various services in the solicitation would charge 7 user fees. NSI proposed that it would charge user fees for domain name registration 8 services. (Article 15 of Cooperative Agreement No. 9218742 between NSF and 9 NSI, January 1, 1993).

10 28. NSI functioned as the Internet registry for domain names since 11 the Cooperative Agreement became effective on December 31, 1992. Until 12 September 1995, registration service for both names and numbers was free to 13 registrants, with the cost of registration of IP numbers being borne by the NSF.
14 NSF reimbursed NSI for the costs of the Internet Registration services on a cost-15 plus basis out of NSF operating funds and, therefore, out of federal tax dollars. The 16 explosion in the usage of the Internet, probably not foreseen by NSF or most others, 17 however, caused an unacceptable financial and administrative burden on NSF.
18 Pursuant to its authority under the Article 15 of the Cooperative Agreement, NSI 19 developed a plan for NSF to (1) charge user fees for domain name services that 20 would make the Internet Registry self-supporting, and (2) transfer the IP 21 registration function to a nonprofit organization. NSF agreed and later participated 22 in the creation of ARIN, which was subsequently incorporated in Virginia. The first 23 phase of the plan went into effect, without prior announcement, on September 14, 24 1995. The second phase came to fruition when ARIN was incorporated in August 25 1997 and began operations four months later in December of that year.

26 29. As part of its InterNIC Registration Services, NSI provided 27 network number assignments and autonomous system number assignments. The 28 domain names registered by NSI are mapped to IP numbers, a numeric-based

1 addressing mechanism, to enable computer users to communicate across networks 2 that comprise the Internet system.

3 30. Under the Cooperative Agreement, all registration services were 4 bundled together within the "Statement of Work." Article 3, Section (F.) of the 5 Cooperative Agreement provided:

6 "The Non-military Internet registration services provided 7 under this Agreement will initially include, but not be limited to, the following:

- 8 1. Domain name registration
- 9 2. Domain name server registration
- 10 3. Network number assignment
- 11 4. Autonomous system number assignment."

12 31. Beginning in 1995, the federal government and Internet 13 Community expressed an interest in unbundling Internet services and keeping 14 Internet Protocol issues separate from domain name service issues and to place the 15 management of the IP space in a separate organizational entity.

16 32. Consistent with the expressed desires of the Internet community 17 and the federal government's desire to unbundle IP address space allocation from 18 the responsibilities of NSI, the NSF concurred in the NSI proposal to establish a 19 nonprofit corporation. NSF Amendment No. 07 to Cooperative Agreement No.
20 NCR-9218742, effective December 1, 1997, approved the "transfer [of] 21 responsibility for the IP Number assignment, Autonomous System Number 22 assignment, and IN-ADDR.ARPA tasks to ARIN." Thus, the entity approved by 23 the NSF to assume all of the responsibilities formerly performed by NSI under the 24 NSF Cooperative Agreement was ARIN. ARIN, subsequently, was incorporated 25 as a nonprofit organization in the Commonwealth of Virginia on April 23, 1997. In 26 December 1997, ARIN received its tax-exempt status under Internal Revenue Code 27 Section 501(c)(6). ARIN's mission was to be responsible for the management of 28 the IP address space for all the geographic regions Network Solutions administered 1 under its Cooperative Agreement, as amended, with the NSF.

2 33. It took approximately thirteen months to organize ARIN.
3 During this period NSF directly supervised the formation process, with input from 4 the National Telecommunications and Information Agency ("NTIA"). J. Beckwith 5 Burr, then the Associate Administrator (Acting) exercised direct input into the 6 ARIN incorporation documents and bylaws. Evidence of NTIA's direct 7 involvement with ARIN is found in the email, dated 18 June 1997 from Ms. Burr to 8 G. Strawn at NSF and E. Maxwell at the Federal Communications Agency ("FCA") 9 in which Ms. Burr stated, "NSF should complete its negotiations with NSI, Inc.
10 regarding the ARIN spin-off, providing that ARIN organization documents reflect 11 the following points of agreement." Pursuant to this directive from NTIA, ARIN 12 twice amended its Articles of Incorporation and bylaws to incorporate the points 13 required by NTIA.

14 34. On June 24, 1998 the NSF issued a press release announcing the 15 formation of ARIN, entitled "Internet Moves toward Privatization, IP Numbers 16 Handled by Non-Profit." The press release stated, in pertinent part:

17 "The NSF has approved a plan from Network Solutions, 18 Inc. (NSI) which establishes the American Registry for 19 Internet Numbers ("ARIN"). Under the plan, ARIN
20 would assume full responsibility for Internet Protocol (IP) 21 number assignments and related administrative tasks 22 previously handled by NSI. The entire process, thus, was 23 initiated and supervised by both the NTIA and NSF 24 pursuant to NSF's supervisory responsibility under the 25 Cooperative Agreement."

26 35. The United States Department of Commerce granted the Internet 27 Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN) responsibility for 28 establishing, in conjunction with Internet users, policies for Internet Protocol Address Space, pursuant to a Memorandum of Understanding between the Department of Commerce and ICANN dated November 28, 1998, as amended May 25, 2001. In 1999, ICANN also assumed responsibility for the technical functions previously performed under U.S. government under contract with the Internet

1 Assigned Numbers Authority (IANA). Today there are five regional IP registries 2 worldwide. They include ARIN, RIPE NCC (Europe, the Middle East and Russia), 3 LACNIC (Mexico, the Caribbean, Central and South America), APNIC (the Asia 4 Pacific countries, including Australia, China and Japan), and AfriNIC (the African 5 continent). Each IP registry maintains continuing authority for administering and 6 registering Internet Protocol Numbers in under this arrangement. IANA 7 coordinates the IP address system by allocating blocks of numerical addresses to 8 these regional IP registries. In turn, the five regional registries allocate classes of 9 addresses to the larger Internet service providers apply to the regional IP registries 10 for blocks of IP addresses. The recipients of those address blocks then reassign 11 addresses to smaller providers and to end-users.

12 36. IP address space is finite. There are four billion IP V_[p2] 4 13 addresses, of which only 1.5 billion remain available for future allocation to devices 14 connected to the Internet. An internet numbering system with far more numbers, 15 IPV.6_[p3], is now being issued. Early on, the amount of IP address space available 16 was thought to be adequate. But it was difficult to foresee just how fast and large 17 the Internet would grow. It is important that the limited amount of available IP 18 address space is used prudently and efficiently, without unnecessary waste.

19 37. To achieve the goals of maintaining globally unique IP 20 addresses and conserving the finite amount of them, a system for allocating and 21 managing these addresses was established early on and evolved into the global 22 Internet registry system in place today. ARIN is one of the Internet registries in this 23 system. ARIN is charged with maintaining a public trust that allocates IP resources 24 in an impartial manner.

25 38. To efficiently manage the allocation of IP addresses in the best 26 interests of the Internet within its geographic area of responsibility, ARIN has 27 adopted specific guidelines and policies ("Guidelines"). A true and accurate copy 28 of the current version of the Guidelines, which are posted at 1 <<http://www.arin.net/policy/ipv4.html#requirements>>. These Guidelines, inter 2 alia, reflect the policies of NSF, NTIA, and the Department of Commerce and are 3 based upon the fundamental proposition that issuance of IP resources remains 4 within the sole administrative control of ARIN in the U.S. IP resources are 5 allocated by ARIN pursuant to the terms of a service agreement, which obligates 6 registrants to comply with ARIN's Internet Protocol resource allocation and 7 assignment guidelines. While ARIN is not the owner of the IP resources, ARIN is 8 the sole administrative organization designated by consensus of the Internet 9 community as well as the federal government to conserve, manage and ensure the 10 efficient utilization of a finite resource.

11 The Transfer Process Mr. Kremen Should Be Required
12 To Follow Is Not Burdensome

13 39. The following steps describe the current ARIN IP Address 14 transfer request process, in accordance with ARIN's current transfer guidelines.
15 We are happy to help Mr. Kremen comply.

16 40. IP address space may be transferred pursuant to the terms of 17 ARIN's Guidelines for Transferring Internet Protocol (IP) Space, which are set 18 forth at <<http://www.arin.net/library/guidelines/transfers.html>> and subject to 19 ARIN's Transfer Policy, which is posted at < 20 <http://www.arin.net/policy/transfer.html>>. As set forth in these Exhibits, the 21 Guidelines, among other things, provide that IP address space is non-transferable, 22 may not be sold or assigned and may only be transferred upon ARIN's approval of 23 a formal transfer request.

24 41. Mr. Kremen has not been harmed by ARIN as he may have been 25 by Mr. Cohen, or by other parties. ARIN is a bystander to the dispute between Mr.
26 Kremen and Mr. Cohen. Mr. Kremen has never attended an ARIN public policy 27 meeting where the community debates and achieves consensus on policies.
28 Granting Mr. Kremen rights greater than anyone else in the U.S. would not seem 1 either fair or equitable.

2 The Court's Order Should Be Modified

3 42. I began this Declaration by providing the Court with Exhibit A, 4 a summary of the five different sets of IP resources contained in the Court's 2001
5 Order. For the Court's convenience, I have labeled each of five sets of IP resources 6 as Blocks 1-5 for the Court's convenience.

7 a. Block 1, IP addresses, 209.205.192.0 through 8 209.205.239.255 and Block 4 group ASN 20228, are, upon information and belief, 9 in use by Pacnet. ARIN has no objection to Mr. Kremen applying for these 10 resources and once that is completed, ARIN will withdraw them from Pacnet and 11 reissue them to Mr. Kremen. However, the Court may wish to consider the impact 12 on Pacnet's innocent third party customers, as I described in Paragraph 14 of my 13 Declaration.

14 b. Block 2 are IP addresses 208.214.46.0 and 15 208.214.47.255. ARIN recommends the Court review Paragraph 13 of my 16 Declaration and remove any reference to these numbers from its Order since ARIN 17 has no control over these particular IP addresses.

18 c. Block 3 are IP addresses 64.19.192.0 through 19 64.19.239.255. ARIN recommends the Court review Paragraph 12 of my 20 Declaration. ARIN is prepared to transfer these resources which it previously 21 revoked as soon as Mr. Kremen completes the necessary application.

22 d. Block 5 is ASN 11083. ARIN issued this ASN to a 23 company called Ocean Fund. However, ARIN no longer controls this resource. In 24 December, 2002, ARIN gave up issuance and control of all South American, 25 Central American and most importantly, Mexico-based IP resources and services to 26 a new Regional Internet Registry ("RIR") known as the Latin American and 27 Caribbean Internet Addresses Registry ("LACNIC"). Therefore, like Block 2, 28 ARIN cannot effectuate the 2001 Order regarding this ASN. The Court could

1 alternatively Order ARIN to provide a new substitute ASN if Mr. Kremen were to 2 apply for this resource. Alternatively, if the Court requests it, ARIN can formally 3 request that LACNIC voluntarily take such action as its policies may permit to 4 assist the Court in this matter. ARIN has no power to direct LACNIC to take any 5 action, or even to respond, and I respectfully request that a second RIR not be 6 drawn into the dispute between Mr. Kremen and Mr. Cohen. Mr. Kremen's failure 7 to promptly serve or seek to enforce this Order has created any problem related to 8 enforcement with regard to this ASN.

9 I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States 10 that the foregoing is true and correct.

11 Executed on June 7, 2006, at Woodland Hills, California.

Let me know your schedule today. I spoke with Gary yesterday and he told me that he had connected with Mr. Jimmerson, had filled out various templates and that today they were discussing the transfers. By developments do you mean some issue that would interfere with our proposal as discussed in Washington or do you mean just to be sure you have what you need from us?

As we discussed in Washington, we agreed to resolve the matter of enforcement of the order of 9-17-01 by assignment of Cohen's netblock numbers (for which you indicated Cohen had not paid giving ARIN the right to shut them down) to Gary but as a preliminary matter ARIN wanted Gary to fill out the usual paperwork (electronic) before the actual assignment. It was understood that Mr. Jimmerson (and you if necessary) would assist in getting Gary through the process. Gary indicated that he thought that we might be able to accomplish the assignment today.

I am available most of today to speak if you just let me know where and when to call you.

Hope you are doing well.

Client-Matter: 22149-030

Mr. Steve Martinez
Pacnet, Inc.
511 E. San Ysidro Blvd., Suite 246
San Ysidro, CA 92173-3110

Dear Mr. Martinez:

I have received your letter of March 10, 2004. I am sorry that our phone call upset you.

One of the reasons I no longer want to engage on the telephone with Pacnet is that characterizations are often made of statements from telephone calls which have to be corrected, where a written record would end the issue. For example, your letter's first paragraph implies that I accused you of engaging in fraud. That is not the case, at least based on my memory. What I do recall saying is that I am not in a position to simply trust the representations of you, Mr. Brownfield or your company, based on a series of issues – ranging from the allegations made by the plaintiff in the case that started this problem, the failure to formally respond to my written communications, and the continued wish to have informal telephone conversations as a substitute. I also find it perplexing that the address on your letterhead is in San Ysidro, California, while you have told me your business is located in Mexico. I am calling a 619 area code, which is U.S.-based. For the record, I have also repeatedly emailed or faxed documents to Mr. Brownfield and to you where I have confirmations of their receipt but it is later claimed they have not been received. Or, conversely, I have sent the communication in the channel requested and have not been able to get it through. I hope we are now over those communication difficulties.

I am not in a position to agree with your characterizations that Mr. Kremen has engaged in false or misleading conduct. That is an issue between you and them. Candidly, I want ARIN to stay out of the fight between you.

In my communication to Mr. Brownfield of February 26, 2004, I posed specific written questions. Your letter contains information which is not organized to respond to my questions. Please send me any response you wish ARIN to consider. I look forward to receiving factual information that will permit ARIN to do its job in an efficient and economical way. As I have told you, it is my current intention to lay these issues before the Court, and the sooner your company retains an attorney with whom I can work out a schedule for that purpose, the better off we all may be.

I look forward to a more business-like relationship for us based on written exchanges.

Sincerely,

Stephen M. Ryan

Re: Your Letter Dated March 18, 2004

Dear Mr. Martinez:

Your correspondence received this date is, as usual, insulting. As I have indicated to you, it is my intention to put this dispute before the Court. ARIN will not be proceeding with the transfer in this case. Furthermore, I am aware of your activity with LACNIC, seeking to take actions that may or may not be inconsistent with the Court's Order that I have shared with you.

I will notify you when I am proceeding to Court.

Sincerely,

Subject: ARIN Draft pleadings: provided pursuant to rule 408 agreement

I believe you and I spoke about this draft on Thursday Feb. 12. At that time you told me you intended to send me a revised draft, perhaps on Monday Feb. 16. Can you update me on your schedule?

Factual events continue to unfold, including PACNET tendering payment mid-last week for some numbering resources in response to a 2003 invoice automatically generated to them. They claim some of these number resources are not implicated by the Court's order and call on ARIN urging us to make transfers. We are factually investigating this matter. We have not and will not take any action on their request if the numbers are included in the Court's order, without putting the issue before the Court, but this tendering of payment may make an application to the Court increasingly necessary, and I believe makes the value of a joint application in this regard between our clients even more beneficial to your client. If we cannot agree on a joint filing, I still believe we can agree on a time and manner to approach the Court separately, but in a way which reduces the number or intensity of our differences.

As we discussed yesterday these documents should be in pretty good shape to permit us to close our deal. The deal is amended in the regard on not transferring all of the numbers as we discussed and as is made clear in the documents. I reserve the right to make changes from ARIN's perspective, but welcome your suggested changes and additions. Once you approve we can begin to execute.

I have received your draft. I will be meeting with my client on Monday to discuss this matter and will get back to you after that meeting about the subpoena. Ultimately I will agree to accept service of process of a version of this document. However, I believe I will ask you for a definitive agreement on a draft scheduling order governing our going forward to Court in the (hopefully unlikely) event we do not reach agreement on a joint approach to a modified version of the relief sought. Currently our agreement, already made, is that either of us must give 30 days written notice to the other before proceeding to court.

That restriction would still exist, but the draft scheduling order would give us a standby agreement as to who goes first, how long the other side has to reply, etc. Given that your discovery will be largely complete when we complete subpoena production, such an agreement is a confidence builder to order our discussion and not lead us to try to file first in the absence of such an agreement. Your thoughts?

I ran your suggestion by Gary Kremen. He wants to stick with our thirty day agreement; we can always agree on a briefing schedule if that is necessary. Let's focus on the document subpoena if we can. Thanks.

I have received your draft. I will be meeting with my client on Monday to discuss this matter and will get back to you after that meeting about the subpoena. Ultimately I will agree to accept service of process of a version of this document. However, I believe I will ask you for a definitive agreement on a draft scheduling order governing our going forward to Court in the (hopefully unlikely) event we do not reach agreement on a joint approach to a modified version of the relief sought. Currently our agreement, already made, is that either of us must give 30 days written notice to the other before proceeding to court. That restriction would still exist, but the draft scheduling order would give us a standby agreement as to who goes first, how long the other side has to reply, etc. Given that your discovery will be largely complete when we complete subpoena production, such an agreement is a confidence builder to order our discussion and not lead us to try to file first in the absence of such an agreement. Your thoughts?

Re: Kremen v. Cohen

Dear Steve:

Thank you for sending out the correspondence; we understand that it is provided under Rule 408. What is missing from the correspondence is Mr. Cohen's original application to ARIN and any subsequent modifications or related papers. Can you provide us with that; it would be helpful to know what it says in our continuing discussions with you.

First, you should know that the people you are dealing with are all well known Cohen cohorts, agents or affiliates. Jack Brownfield was found to be the person paying for Cohen's legal bills after Judge Ware ordered that Cohen could not transfer money to his lawyers or other property. That order ran to persons acting in concert with Cohen. Quite apart from the execution order that we have there was an injunction that was issued which prevented Cohen from transferring property. As you know the Judgment in favor of Gary Kremen included the imposition of a constructive trust on Cohen property and property of Cohen entities. The IP net block numbers in question are clearly the subject of the prior orders as well as the constructive trust set forth in the Judgment. Mr. Kremen's position is that he steps into Mr. Cohen shoes on execution of the Judgment.

I noticed in the paperwork that you sent a reference to the stipulation filed in the District Court and the statement that we had never given notice that we were proceeding with enforcement. This is a false statement. Enclosed is my letter of November 6, 2003 directed to their counsel, Mr. Usoz, which is that notice.

The correspondence dated March 19, 2004 to Martinez from you refers to LACNIC. No correspondence with respect to the "Latin America ARIN" was enclosed. Could you tell us more about this matter?

Your letter also references papers that you are preparing for the court; I do not know what papers you refer to but I would like to adhere to our agreement that neither of us will take any litigation action prior to thirty (30) days notice to the other. In the event that your client has made the decision to cease all further settlement discussions, please let me know that so that we can arrange a mutually convenient day to appear before Judge Ware on whatever motion or other proceeding you intend to file and on our further enforcement proceedings. Monday is his usual law and motion day. If we are taking the litigation route, we will want to conduct discovery including a subpoena duces tecum for various documents and records and a Rule 30(b)(6) deposition on various issues before any hearing. If we have to go to Court, of course, all of Mr. Kremen's rights and claims are fully reserved and, as we have discussed, Mr. Kremen will want to focus on the property nature of these net block numbers. Our position is and has been that since the net block numbers were assigned to Cohen and/or one of his entities, Mr. Kremen is fully entitled to possession of them just as he would as to any other property under the constructive trust Judgment.

Gary and I will be in touch this week with a further proposal.

Very truly yours,

Subject: RE: Status of protective order: Rule 408 communication.

Steve: I received your faxed letter of August 16. My client has not seen it since it was faxed and he is traveling.

You did not address the issue of the tolling agreement. We want a tolling agreement making clear that while we are discussing resolution of this matter no statutes of limitations that may apply are running. I am not aware of any such statute but Mr. Kremen has asked for this for the sake of good order.

On the protective order, there seem to be two issues. The issue of filing under seal is governed by local rule and we have no discretion in the matter so I don't really understand your persistence in that. You should have the laboring oar in making sure that documents that you want filed under seal are filed under seal.

On the issue of experts or consultants hired by Mr. Kremen, your demand is impractical since Mr. Kremen has such persons on retainer and they are not hired by this law firm. These consultants and investigators will sign an acknowledgement that they will abide by the protective order as to the few documents that there are.

I am encouraging Mr. Kremen to resolve this matter but he is at the end of his patience over this document production. Your objections were wholly untimely and not well taken. I trust that we can work this out and would encourage you to call me as soon as you can to work out the final terms of the protective order, the terms of a tolling agreement and production of the remaining documents.

Richard, it was signed and sent back to you the day we got it. Please check around your firm. I got your sternly worded note this morning.

My client is away on vacation till Monday. Expect ARIN response then or Tuesday at latest.
